

BARRINGTONS

INDIGENOUS PROGRAM

Certificate III in Hospitality (SIT 30713)

Indigenous Job Ready provides the skill set required for entry level employment into the club industry.

The course provides the foundation skills required to become a customer service and hospitality champion. During the course, participants will have the opportunity to be involved in a simulated Club environment.

This course has been specifically created to address the needs of indigenous participants and the current dynamics of Clubs. Participants of the Indigenous Job Ready Program will be job ready!

Committed participants will be identified by program partners and screened by Barringtons and Job Service Agencies. Indigenous Ambassadors will be engaged along with workplace mentors and buddies to provide one-on-one support through the program. Participants will be aligned with committed registered clubs near to their place of abode.

An Indigenous Job Ready participant will have access to Indigenous Ambassadors, workplace mentors, trainers and buddies, expert industry speakers, tours of clubs, club-specific training modules, workplace assessments and feedback, mock interviews, induction programs, job placement, ongoing progress monitoring and support.

We encourage you to make an enquiry by phoning your Job Service Agency.
